- 1. The staff of the technological department of the Materialant at Sonnenatein near Firna included 15 members. Among them were Ingenieur Jehannes, department chief; Ingenieur Salamann, chief technologist; Ingenieur Banas; and Ingenieur Languer. Johannes was probably to be replaced by Salamann. The department was planning the production process at Firna. It has been decided that the development of aircraft engines is to remain in Firna, and the production is to be in Karl-Marn-Stadt. The location for the development and production of airframes has not been determined. Professor Dr. Bredendick of the Dresden Institute of Technology was consulted on the plans.
- 2. There was a demand for machine tools by the Materialant. Many experte of the Materialant were to visit the Leipzig Fair to purchase the required machines.
- 3. Ingenieur Mueller, a former member of the Siemens firm, was chief of the measuring department for experimental and test stand measurements. His staff included Ingenieur Wittke, his deputy, and Ingenieur Schaub.
- 4. In the Sonnenstein area, excavating and planning work was done for the construction of workshops.
